Rev. J. G. Dukes, Pastor of the Unitarian Church of Pinetown, N. C., writes:

"My wife has been in a very bad state of health for several years, and nothing seemed to do her any good until she began to use Peruna one month ago. Since then the color has returned to her face, and she is gaining in flesh every day, and I believe she is a well woman to-day."

"My little boy, ten years old, was pale and had but little life. He began to use Peruna the day his mother began. To-day his face is rosy, and he is out in the yard running and jumping with the rest of the children."

HARRIMAN LINES TO CONTEST

Recent Decision in "Spokane Rate Case," Claiming Discrimination

Portland, Ore., March 31.—The Harriman lines, according to W. W. Cotton, general attorney for the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, will contest in the courts the recent decision of the interstate commerce case in the case commonly known as "The Spokane rate case," on the ground that the Harriman lines are compelled to carry freight a much longer distance in order to deliver it at Spokane from Eastern points than is the Great Northern or Northern Pacific.

Mr. Cotton makes the point, using Class "A" freight as an illustration, that the rate from Chicago to Spokane is fixed by the interstate commerce commission at $3 and the rate from St. Paul to Spokane at $2.50 per hundredweight. In the same classification, Mr. Cotton points out, the rates from St. Paul to coast points is $2.50 and from Chicago to coast points $3, notwithstanding the haul, by way of the Harriman lines, is many hundreds of miles less to the coast than it is to Spokane.

The burden of the contention of the Harriman attorney is that the rate fixed discriminates in favor of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, which are competitors of the Harriman system.

Personal experience with a tube of Manzan Pile Remedy will convince you it is immediate relief for all forms of Piles. Can be applied directly to the affected parts, reducing inflammation swelling and itching. Guaranteed. Price 50c. Sold by Geo. F. Cave and Depot Drug Store.

SALT LAKE AND STATE NEWS

WILL BUILD PLANT FOR INDEPENDENCE

Silver King Crowd and Other Producers Make Plans for New Smelter.

Salt Lake, March 31.—News: Should anything be done by F. Augustus Heinze that would in any wise impair or invalidate the present contract he holds with the Silver King Coalition company for the smelting of its ore, the movement which was started some time ago by the metal producers of Utah will be again revived and a new independent smelter will be built. It is understood that for some time various mining men have been discontented and have wished to embark in the smelting business, but on account of the capital behind other concerns here, have held back.

The report this morning that the Cole-Ryan people were endeavoring to get the Silver King ores for their Pine Canyon plant brought out the fact that the independent smelter movement has not been abandoned.

Although nothing definite can be ascertained, it is understood that the Silver King people allowed the contract with Mr. Heinze with the provision that he establish a smelter in Utah. Should this be violated in any way it is understood that the Silver King crowd stands ready to snap it up and take the building of a smelter into its own hands.

That Mr. Heinze is not asleep as to his right is shown by the presence of many of his agents in the various camps. The recent visit of James B. Green, formerly Heinze's right-hand man and one of the best known smelter experts in the country, to the Pioche district is believed to be one of the moves toward a smelter. The revival of work in Deep Creek and especially at the Western Utah Mining company, is looked upon as a move by the smelter interests. Although Mr. Heinze may not be the hand at the helm, it seems almost certain that he will be one of the strong factors.

THE TARIFF ON LEAD WILL BE RESTORED

Washington, March 31.—The senate committee on finance is being flooded with telegrams from all over the West protesting against any reduction of the duty on lead and lead ores. They come from Colorado, Missouri, Utah and other lead-producing states, and their tenor is the same in every instance. A sample telegram, dated Provo, is as follows: "Senator Aldrich, Washington, D. C. Any further reduction in the tariff on lead would necessitate the closing down of many mines and smelters, and cause a general panic in the West." (Signed) Jesse Knight, J. W. Knight, John Roundy.

Senator Smoot who is a member of the finance committee, in discussing the lead tariff prospect with the "News" correspondent today, said he feels warranted in asserting that the old rate duty on both ores and lead will be restored before the bill goes to the president.

the fact that all of the lowers were taken. I therefore decided to occupy a seat in one of the day cars, and had fallen into a doze about 3 o'clock. I was awakened by a terrific shock and found myself sprawling half in the aisle and half under the seat ahead of mine. The car was swaying back and forth and lurching forward as one notices when a long heavy train is being started.

"Almost immediately the lights flickered and went out, leaving the car in darkness, which, added to the screams of terrified women and the curses of men, all more or less startled made a scene of great confusion. Fearful that serious damage might have been done to the platforms, I opened a window and dropped to the ground beside the train. Four car lengths ahead were lanterns waving and men running about, and I made my way to that point.

"The scene that met my eyes is almost indescribable. The huge passenger engine had plowed through the debris of the landslide for several feet before striking the immense boulder which had caused the wreck. The locomotive had turned turtle, crushing the life out of the fireman. How the engineer ever escaped is a mystery, though it is possible he was thrown clear of the engine when it turned on its left side. The pilot, boiler head and smokestack of the locomotive were gone, while the gaping end of the boiler showed plainly the awful force of the collision.

"It seemed but a moment before flames flared forth from the mail and express cars simultaneously. They had been reduced to a wreckage, having telescoped at the time of the collision.

"With a cry of 'My God, Gordon's in there,' Conductor Miller rushed to the baggage car and endeavored to force his way into it. The flames had gained such headway that nothing could be done, but though we listened carefully, no sound was heard, and we believed that the unfortunate baggage man had been killed or rendered unconscious at the time of the collision.

"In almost less time than it takes to tell it, the flames had spread to the coaches immediately back of the baggage car until five were ablaze. Order had been established through the efforts of the trainmen and I believe that very little hand baggage was lost. I want to say that the conduct of the trainmen was perfect. Conductor Miller organized his forces, put them to work quieting the passengers, and saving personal baggage and securing the assistance of several male passengers checked over the list of tickets with those present, proving almost immediately that none of the passengers had been killed or seriously wounded. Nearly all of the day coach passengers were bruised and made nervous by the shock, but for my part I am more than thankful to escape death at the expense of a few bruises."

DREAM OF LOVE ENDS IN AN ABRUPT MANNER

Sad Story Is Told by Mrs. James F. Matthews in Action for Divorce.

Salt Lake, April 1.—Edna Arnold's love dream ended abruptly the day of her marriage to James F. Matthews, according to her complaint for divorce filed in the third district court Wednesday.

Matthews not only failed to furnish her with any shoes, or other wearing apparel, from the date of their marriage, but has refused to pay the rent for the last two months, has threatened to kill her several times and has repeatedly assaulted her, and crowned these acts of extreme cruelty, covering a period of two years, with accusations of undue intimacy with a landman, whose name is not mentioned.

The suit is the disastrous termination of another Farmington marriage. Miss Arnold and Matthews were married at the Davis county Gretna Green July 5, 1905. Matthews has been idle and profligate and dissipated ever since the marriage, it is alleged, and Mrs. Matthews has been compelled often to rely upon the charity of friends for her subsistence.

Matthews has failed to furnish Mrs. Matthews with any clothing since the marriage and has not provided for the table beyond the things which he obtained on credit and has not paid for yet. It is set out. Matthews has also refused to pay the rent for the last two months, and has sold the furniture, which was their joint property.

On September 1, 1907, Matthews, it is charged, struck her in the face. On March 29, which was Tuesday, he threatened to kill her, she says, at the same time charging her with infidelity. Several times within the last two years Matthews has struck at, but missed her, Mrs. Matthews asserts.

Mrs. Matthews demands a divorce, her maiden name of Arnold back, reasonable alimony, and $100 attorney fees.

COMMANDER NEVIUS WRITES TO STERRETT

Main Object of His Visit Is to See About Arrangements for Quarters.

Salt Lake, April 1.—Col. Frank M. Sterrett, executive director of the forty-third national encampment, said Wednesday night that he had just received a letter from Commander-in-Chief Nevius regarding his intended visit here about April 25, in which he made it fully evident that he was coming here mainly to see that final details regarding the engaging of quarters for the accommodation of the Grand Army veterans had been arranged.

Col. Sterrett said that although some of the hotels have been ready to arrange for the accommodation of the visitors on the customary terms, several have shown a disposition to delay in the matter, whereas it is of the utmost importance that final plans should be arranged at the earliest possible date. This is the more important since it is customary for the cation of department headquarters to be announced to the veterans at the time of holding the usual annual encampments. Many of these will be held during the next few weeks. Any delay, therefore, in securing locations for headquarters for the forty-four departments of the G. A. R. delays the perfecting of plans for the encampment and makes additionally difficult the notification of members of the 6,000 different Grand Army posts throughout the country of the location of their department headquarters. Commander Nevius will remain here only a day or two and will be given a reception by the Grand Army men of the city. He will also attend the various functions connected with the holding of the annual encampment of the department of Utah, G. A. R.

Will Appoint Board of Inquiry—Superintendent Whitney will appoint a board of inquiry to investigate and report in the wreck, and this will be made public in the Standard within the next 36 hours.
